Greetings from our editor

As winter fades and Spring begins, we at Crystal Clear Psychics are committed to bringing you psychic inspiration to foster new growth. Whether it's love, career, or spiritual development, we strive to support your life goals.

In this month's newsletter, we have a fascinating feature on actor Daniel Craig, who has quickly become one of the most sought-after men in showbusiness. What can the stars tell us about his reclusive personality?

We also include a story on how to bring spirituality into shopping—a must-read before you update your Spring wardrobe! It seems that our psychic state plays a big role in whether or not we find what we're looking for at the shops.

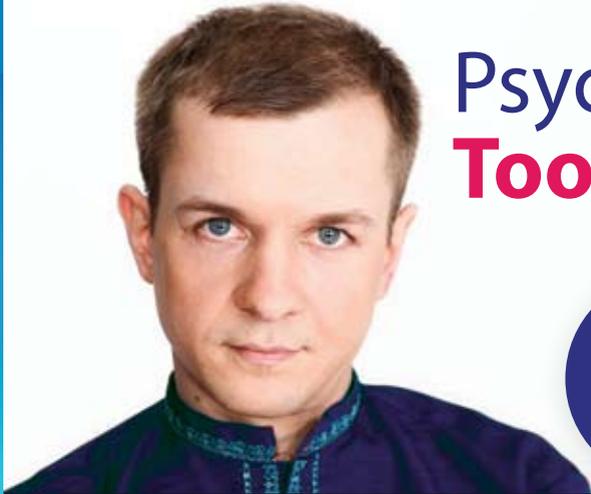

This month, we also feature an exciting psychic named Rico (pin 7716). Having discovered his strong psychic abilities at the age of 14, Rico uses natural talent to deliver quality readings. Our clients have been loving his incredibly honest, yet sensitive approach!

As a special offer, all calls to Rico this month will be half price* to give you the same fabulous experiences!

In the meantime, I want to thank you for being a valued client as we work hard to bring you the most respected psychic service in the USA.

Love and Light

Crystal Clear Psychic Rico explains the psychic tools he uses to help clients toward clarity.

Crystal Clear Psychics: When did you first discover you were psychic?

Rico: At the age of fourteen I had my first spiritual encounter that resulted in the awakening of my psychic abilities. It was quite a shock to my system as my whole experiencing and processing of reality was shifted at once. It took me some time to get adjusted and incorporate those newly awakened extra-sensory perceptions.

CCP: What are your talents and what do they mean? I.e. Clairvoyant?

Rico: I would describe myself as a psychic who is using mainly information given through seeing (clairvoyant) and feelings (clairsentient). At times, spirit guides will also convey information through hearing (clairaudience), smelling (clairance) and tasting (clairgustance). My speciality is reading the psyche of a person and communicating those insights to enable personal, professional and spiritual development as well as being able to facilitate psychic therapeutic work.

CCP: What tools do you use and why? What is their history?

Rico: When I give readings on the phone, I am using mainly tarot cards to get additional information and insight of the client's situation, past and future. I like to use the tarot deck named after the famous French cartomancer Madam Lenormand. Usually all 36 cards are being spread out on the table, which allows me to get an overview over all important life areas like love, family, work, finances and spirituality.

CCP: One remarkable story from a recent client?

Rico: That's a difficult question to answer, as I feel that every reading and client is unique in their own way. I always try to give the best I can by being authentic, focused, creative and supportive. For me the most remarkable situation is when the client is leaving the reading with clarity, new valuable insight and a feeling of being uplifted.

CCP: Why do you enjoy working for Crystal Clear Psychics?

Rico: I enjoy working for Crystal Clear Psychics, because it has a unique way of caring for its clientele and psychics. Many clients reported to me how ethically and genuine they feel treated by the Crystal Clear Team. Being able to work with clients from all over the world is another factor that I appreciate a lot, as it is enriching personal experiences and understanding of different cultures.

The Sky's the LIMIT

After Pierce Brosnan's final turn as James Bond in 2002, producers were ready to dial down the slapstick and lose the gimmicks. They wanted a gritty character who concealed deep emotions beneath a tough, hardened exterior. When they chose Daniel Craig, they may not have been looking at his astrological profile—but on a psychic level, they knew he was the right man for the job. Why?

The first, most obvious clue is that Craig is a Pisces. Born on 2nd March, 1968, he carries a depth of feeling which no Bond before him—two Virgos, a Libra, a Taurus and an Aries—has been able to project. Pisceans are typically not playboys or hustlers. They are passionate, loyal, romantic, and psychically sensitive. Bond has always had a sixth sense, but with Craig, these abilities appear to have emotional anchors. This is why the most recent film, Skyfall, in which his beloved 'M' dies, is considered among the greatest of the franchise.

Despite this new emotional depth, Bond is still a ruthless professional whose creative problem-solving seems to know no bounds. This is where the rest of Craig's chart comes in. Moon, Mars, and Saturn are all located in fiery Aries, which gives a blast of warrior energy. This raw, explosive side of Craig's persona helps us to believe that he actually could get out of half the situations in which Bond finds himself. Meanwhile, since Craig was born in the Chinese Year of the Monkey, his psychic signature has a trickster quality. A Bond that can't outwit his opponent—and turn the tables in the most unexpected of ways—is surely no Bond at all...

With such a range of psychic traits—all revolving around a sensitive Piscean core—it's no wonder that Craig has been able to breathe new life into the classic spy character (Sir Roger Moore has gone so far as to name Craig his favourite Bond ever). Nor is it surprising that the actor has quickly grown larger than 007, with top billings in other successful films such as The Adventures of Tin Tin and The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo.

The unique psychic signature which snagged Craig the coveted role can also be seen at work in his personal life. If the string of short-lived relationships early on his career represent the most restless and impulsive aspects of his personality, his marriage to long-time friend Rachel Weisz shows a more measured approach to romance. Due to the depth of feeling involved, Pisceans are often cautious about truly opening up their hearts to another person. They aren't interested in cheap thrills or one-night stands, and when they do settle on a mate, a profound spiritual connection is established. The fact that Craig's current marriage is based on years of friendship—and the fact that Rachel is also a Pisces—suggests that the actor may have found his soul mate.

As he enters his 46th year, this once-shy boy from Liverpool may seem to have it all: Wealth, fame, looks, and even true love. But with such a powerful rush of Aries energy juxtaposing his sensitive Piscean side, Craig may have to work as hard as Bond in order to maintain his psychic balance—especially as his global star continues to rise.

"The genuine truth, and I do think about this a lot, is that I'm one of the least competitive people you'll ever meet. Except with myself."

Craig's innate Piscean sensitivity is juxtaposed with a highly-physical, warrior-like energy. This gives him both immediacy and depth.

Horoscopes • March 2014

Aries

Putting yourself in front of people, and stretching your comfort zone, are keys to getting the attention of someone special. Going through the motions simply won't do! The same principles apply in other areas of life, including career and fitness goals. Find those feelings of discomfort within and lean on them. You'll find a deep source of strength aiding your efforts. March is also quite a psychic month. Periods of solitude and quiet help you tune in to your own inner guides, which in turn helps you get what you want.

Cancer

A deep intuition compels you to make an unexpected decision. It may not be the easiest path to take, but facing the unexpected makes you psychically and spiritually stronger! Reach out for your higher goals by noticing—and acting on—one little thing. Sparks fly between you and your partner when you go beyond the mundane and connect your inner-worlds. Someone who's interested in you—with whom the feeling is not mutual—needs to be clearly told the truth. Otherwise they'll stay under the illusion that you'll come around.

Taurus

Conversation is especially potent, leading to all sorts of exciting places, so don't hesitate to strike one up! Keep your social calendar full and thriving, as you're likely to discover key supports when you extend yourself more than usual. One area where you don't want to reach too far is fitness, as pushing too hard can be counterproductive. Stick with a smooth and steady approach for better results. When a chance encounter leads to a flirtatious exchange, you may find a promising new number in your contact book.

Leo

If you've ever wondered what it might be like to become more psychic, this is your chance to find out! The stars are aligned to give you strong psychic messages this month, and if you can learn to follow them, you'll tap into a lasting source of inspiration and guidance. Taking time to meditate and set intentions will augment this intuitive journey. Your partner makes a surprising observation which has you shifting in your seat; but there is value in what he or she says. Your workout regime should be more about feeling good than looking good, since how you feel is the root of how you look.

Gemini

A professional breakthrough is just around the corner, Gemini, provided you put your unconventional ideas into action. Sharpen your mental and psychic sensitivity through simple daily practices like yoga and meditation. You'll quickly gain access to new kinds of energy. An unexpected run-in with an old friend or lover can either throw you for a loop or inspire you to grow. Smile big and hold your ground. You may not be able to control destiny, but you can use it to your advantage. Be firm when partner tries to go back on his or her word.

Virgo

They say unrealistic expectations make it difficult to encounter a new love—which may be true, but unabashed realism doesn't get the job done either! Allowing yourself to dream and intuit will in turn allow your dreams to mingle with the external world, especially where romance is concerned. Visualisations are particularly potent, so light those candles and let your soul mate know you're here. Be careful what you do with a sensitive secret that lands in your lap; the wrong kind of gossip will tend to bite back!

Libra

Down in the trenches is where real accomplishments are made, dear Libra! This month, it's all about rolling up your sleeves and getting your hands dirty. Physical health is a strong point; if you've been trying to break through a fitness barrier, now is the time to be vigilant and enter a new stage of personal growth. Distractions will arise in plenitude, so resist being led hither and thither. The spiritual and psychic confidence you'll earn by staying true to yourself is well-worth it—and likely to net you some very agreeable attention.

Capricorn

Things will seem to move slowly this month—meetings, conversations, traffic—but instead of getting frustrated, use it all as an opportunity to view your life in greater detail. The universe has a meaningful rhythm, and one or two important changes will become obvious when you pay close attention to the little things. Give your love-life a poetic flair in order to keep things fresh. If you're in the game for new romance, don't let a recent setback get you down. Things are flowing more freely now—less effort will be needed to strike something up.

Scorpio

The good news is, a surge of confidence is making you all the more attractive to the opposite sex. The bad news is that someone will likely take offense to your honest and direct words. Knowing when to dial it back a notch is an art-form that will serve you well, especially in the professional realm. If you're in a relationship, pay special attention to the balance of giving and receiving. Don't deny your partner the pleasure of spoiling you—and don't be caught flirting with someone else! Maintaining a youthful connection requires attention to detail.

Aquarius

You don't have to quit your day job in order to cultivate your dreams. If there is something in your routine that saps too much energy, do away with it and use the extra resources to advance. The same holds true with your bank account—saving and spending with greater efficiency pushes you closer to your goals. A potential new mate makes an entrance, but beware of too much sweet talk. A grounded and lasting relationship is based on much more than words. Talk to your stylist and be open to something new. Being open is a state of mind.

Sagittarius

Things at home will likely get emotional, but don't stress! There are old energies being cleaned out and renewed. Tune in to the hidden reasons why people behave the way they do, and see the bigger picture. Shopping with a close friend is a great way to release tension, but it's better to only buy what serves a higher purpose. Like junky food and TV, pointless purchases do little good. You will feel a noticeable psychic shift around the 5th; this is the time to find creative solutions to old problems.

Pisces

The fact that the opposite sex finds you especially attractive this month means one of two things: Either you're single and suddenly have more options than you know what to do with, or you're in a relationship and need to be extra careful about sending the wrong message! These are good problems to have, but if you already have a partner, make sure you give them your undivided attention. Meanwhile, a series of meaningful dreams help you piece together the solution to friend's problem.

Romance Your Guy

Think romance is entirely up to him? Wrong! When you play a more active role in heating things up, you create a more spiritually and psychically balanced relationship.

Smile!

Too much seriousness is the mortal enemy of romance. Laughter awakens his endorphins, sharpens his senses, and opens him up to you on a psychic level. This doesn't mean you should prepare jokes in advance; it's all about finding joy in a natural and spontaneous way. Tell him something funny that happened during the day, and when he says something that makes you laugh, augment your laughter with a light touch. Even a simple gesture like this can be a potent aphrodisiac.

Extend Yourself

If your guy does something to unwind—something that doesn't really interest you—try joining him instead of doing your own thing. Showing an interest in what turns him on is one of the most romantic things you can do—and chances are, he'll reciprocate! That's not to say you should be totally involved in all of his activities, or vice versa. Space and individuality are important parts of a relationship too. But when "his" and "her" time become too routine, the romantic element of the relationship tends to follow suit. Romance is about being unpredictable and surprising each other.

Use Aphrodisiacs

During our long history on earth, we humans have figured out a thing or two about aphrodisiacs. Making use of these ancient secrets can invigorate the romantic connection between you and your guy. For example: Cinnamon can increase circulation and make him wish to be caressed. Nutmeg can stimulate the imagination and make you both more spontaneous. Vanilla brings on a mutual euphoria and puts you both in an open, sensual mood. The list goes on and on! Remember—there is a reason these secrets have been around since time immemorial...

Go Within...

Romance is a high-vibrational energy. It starts with a personal attraction and connects us to even higher manifestations of love and harmony. So what's the catch? Well, it's difficult to manifest truly romantic energy unless you really feel positive within yourself. The more you can work on yourself spiritually and psychically—releasing past traumas, finding your center, pursuing your dreams—the more romantic you will naturally become. In fact, when you are at peace with yourself and feeling positive, everything you do will seem romantic to him.

Can Shopping Be Spiritual?

Is there a positive, spiritual side to shopping? Studies are beginning to say yes—but it's not as simple as throwing caution to the wind. Your psychic state can make all the difference.

Impulse vs. Intuition

The difference between a positive and negative shopping experience is all in our psychic state. If we are linked to the bigger picture of who we are, then shopping will bring positive energy and inspiration! If, on the other hand, we use shopping as a way to escape or cover up problems, then we will likely be met with negativity and buyer's remorse. Our choices will not be aligned with our most important personal goals, and we will feel it!

That's not to say that shopping can't lift your spirits you're feeling down; but a fundamentally positive attitude allows you to shop on a higher vibration. It allows you to see if a purchase is really good for you, or if you are better off without it. This makes all the difference when you get back home and set down your bags.

Visualising a New You

It's no secret that visualisation is a powerful psychic tool. Every day, greater numbers of modern scientists are agreeing with what mystics have been saying for ages—namely that the universe responds to our thoughts and intentions! As a result, there are countless visualisation techniques in the world today, including things like meditation, trance, and modern rituals.

We often don't realise it on a conscious level, but shopping is another way to visualise. When we shop—whether it's for a new chair, a new cooker or a new outfit—we are actively engaged in a form of visualisation. We imagine how life will look with the new item, and in doing so, we visualise the life we want. Our hopes and dreams are brought to the foreground, and we scan the shops for things that symbolise our coming closer to these goals.

Pre-Shopping Meditation

A little pre-shopping meditation may be just the thing to determine whether today is the right day to grab your handbag and head out the door. This can be as simple as sitting down, closing your eyes, and focusing on your breath for five minutes. Are you in a clear state of mind? Is there anything in particular that is troubling you, or any reason why you might be using retail as an excuse? Visualise your dreams, those things you want most in life. See yourself inching closer to those dreams through the shopping you are about to do. Imagine yourself coming home feeling refreshed and inspired.

Aside from meditation, chatting with a gifted psychic, or reading your horoscope, can also improve your psychic clarity. Deep down, we know that shopping cannot solve all our problems—but done the right way, it can be a wholesome experience that accelerates our spiritual evolution.
